

TRIZANNE SIGNATURE WINES

Western Cape - South Africa

Background

Trizanne Barnard was an adrenaline junkie growing up, but has since traded bridge jumping for the more tranquil hobbies of surfing and winemaking. After honing her winemaking skills internationally at places like Moss Wood in Margaret River, she helped launch Anwilka back home in South Africa, making grandiose red blends. Despite major praise from Robert Parker early on, Trizanne felt drawn back to her love of South Africa's cooler climate, coastal terroir. In 2008, Trizanne Signature Wines was born, focusing on cool-climate whites from Elim and Syrahs from the Swartland. Her winemaking philosophy centers on varietal freshness, showcasing saline minerality and vibrant acidity thanks to earlier picking dates and the careful use of old oak. Her ocean-themed branding is a nod to the importance of surfing in her life. "Apart from how thrilling surfing is, it's humbling. Surfing is where I lose all titles. When I'm in the ocean, I'm not a winemaker. I'm not a mother. I'm just present," she says. "I don't even see [surfing] next to my life. It's just who I am."

scan for more info

Highlights

- 1 Trizanne Signature Wines contrasts the cool climate of Elim with the warm, dry climate of the Swartland.
- 2 From the label art to the mineral, fresh flavor profiles, everything about Trizanne's wines evokes her love for the ocean.
- 3 The 'TSW' range has fantastic by-the-glass options that are great for introducing new drinkers to quality South African wines.

Wines

TSW Range SRP $20

The 'TSW' series is Trizanne's entry-level range of Sauvignon Blanc, Cinsault, and Syrah. These are fantastic by-the-glass options.

Seascape Range SRP $30-60

This is Trizanne's more premium, Cape South Coast range consisting of Cap Classique, white blends, and Syrah. New vintages of the 'Reserve' wines will be rolled into this range.

Ethos

NATURAL

VEGAN

Packaging

Experimental

Traditional

Press

This a world-class Sauvignon Blanc that tastes as good as it looks.

95 points

TIM ATKIN, MW

'Sondagskloof' Sauvignon Blanc 2022